

Ramnavmi

Chaitrasud Navmi is celebrated as the birthday of Shri Ram. Ram and Krishna are the main support of Hindu culture and religion. Ram has become one with our lives. In India when two people meet on the street, they greet each other by saying Ram-Ram.

There is a strong base of trust and faith of the common man that “one who is under Shri Ram’s shelter – no one can touch him”. So many people fulfill their wishes merely by saying Ram-Ram with love and faith. We all should try to understand the god’s nature of Shri Ram’s life and put in practice in our own lives.

There is tremendous power in Ram-Ram. If a person wants to become Ram – He should follow the conducts and religion of Shri Ram, then only he can become Ram and can worship Ram, “Ram bhutwa Raman yajet.”.

Shreeram was very great. We all would want a friend like Ram and an enemy like Ram. After Ravan’s death, his own brother refused to fire the Ravan’s pyre. There, Shri Ram tells him that animosity ends after a person’s death, so do it like a brother should do it or “I will do it, he was also my brother”.

There is only one lady in Shri Ram’s heart, and that is we all know – Sitaji. He made a golden statue for the havan puja in her absence. Shree Ram loved his land very much. He had no obsession for the land, wealth, or power after he won the war. After killing Vali, he gave away the kingdom Kiskindha to Sugriv and after killing Ravan, he gave Ravan’s brother Vibhishan, the kingdom. The kingdoms he won were very beautiful, but he loved his own land than anything else where he grew up.

A question arises, the young people who have left our Mother India, miss their land where they grew up? India is a very pious country and we are very proud of it. Thus we should try to absorb some of Shri Ram’s conduct and morals in our lives as much as we can to make our precious worthwhile.

Jay Shri Ram.

Devendra Dave,

Translated and edited: Ameer Shah